Despite warnings that it is linked to adverse side effects, 5G (5th generation) is currently being actively rolled out in cities worldwide.

As awareness over its dangerous health and privacy impacts is rising, many places are also issuing moratoriums on 5G or outright banning it, such as Belgium, the city of Vaud in Switzerland and San Francisco in the United States.

If you want to protect your family from the dangers of 5G, try using products like supplements. (h/t to GlobalResearch.ca)

Here are some of the many dangers of 5G exposure:

5G exposure affects skin health

Researchers are now recognizing radiofrequency radiation (RF or RFR) and electromagnetic fields (EMF) as new types of pollution, particularly environmental pollution.

The 5G network uses and broadcasts frequencies which affect human sweat ducts, whic act as antennae. This means your largest organ, the skin, can be influenced and harmed by 5G.

5G Frequencies will zap humans exposed to it "with wavelengths that will interact with the geometrical structure" of their skin.

Researchers explained that sweat ducts function like helical antennas and that the sweat duct was "an integral part of the mechanism for the absorption of energy, electromagnetic, between 75-100 GHz, and that if you changed the character of the sweat duct, i.e. made it work, you could actually change that absorption at some point, and if you could do that you could trace how a person is under stress."

5G amplifies EMF damage via VGCCs

Dr. Martin Pall, a wireless radiation and EMF scientist, has conducted groundbreaking research in explaining how EMFs cause premature aging and injury to the human body, including damage to the brain, heart, fertility and DNA.

Pall pioneered research demonstrating how EMFs activate the body's voltage-gated calcium channels (VGCCs), which then causes them to release excess calcium ions into the cell. This leads to nitric oxide (NO) and superoxide which react almost instantaneously to form peroxynitrite and free radicals.

Other studies like Pall's research demonstrate how peroxynitrite damages DNA. Pall has also warned that the "5G rollout is absolutely insane." (Related: 5G Danger: 4 Ways 5G wireless technology can seriously harm human health.)

Protect against the dangers of 5G with 5G Defense Powder

5G technology, the newest innovation for modern mobile phones and other smart devices, is here and it will soon be all around you if it isn't already.

However, with all the convenience that this new technology brings, it may also pose significant health risks, including an increased risk of damage from harmful oxidizing free radicals such as peroxynitrites. Additionally, being constantly surrounded by 5G radiation can negatively impact your overall health and well-being since no one knows how much 5G radiation the human body can withstand.

Fortunately, the Health Ranger Store is committed to supporting your overall health in the face of any potential harm that 5G technology may bring about.

The store is proud to introduce the new Groovy Bee® 5G Defense Powder.

This specially formulated supplement combines the potent health benefits of ascorbic a magnesium glycinate, N-Acetyl-L-Cysteine, Organic Extramel® SOD (Superoxide Dismutase from melon juice concentrate) and selenium chelate to help protect the body from oxidative damage and support optimal health and well-being.

Groovy Bee® 5G Defense Powder is non-GMO, non-China and has been extensively lab-tested for glyphosate, heavy metals and microbiology.
